Siparex ETI divests its stake in the Batibig Group, after 6 years of support during which the Group became the leading independent French player in multi-specialist building maintenance and emerging repairs

July 17, 2026

Siparex ETI, a shareholder of the Batibig Group since 2020 alongside Charles and Justin Bignon, announces its divestment as part of a transaction with Charterhouse Capital Partners. After six years of support, Batibig has established itself as the leading independent French player in multi-specialist building maintenance and emerging repairs, with over €500M in revenue, more than 2,000 employees and more than 300,000 interventions per year.

Founded in 2005 by Charles and Justin Bignon and based in the Île-de-France region, the Batibig Group is a major player in multi-specialist building maintenance and renovation, specialising in plumbing, roofing, waterproofing, heating, facade restoration and external thermal insulation. With a "One Stop Shop" offering built around more than 15 technical specialisations and a proven consolidation model, Batibig has established itself as the go-to partner for its clients – property management companies, social landlords and local authorities – providing a single point of contact for all their emergency repair, maintenance and building renovation needs. The Group today federates more than 100 specialist family businesses, alongside a large circle of shareholder associates and managers.

Since Siparex ETI invested in the Batibig Group in 2020 alongside the founders, who retained the majority stake, and then EMZ in 2022, the Group has experienced a remarkable growth trajectory, growing from €50M to over €500M in revenue and from 350 to over 2,000 employees in six years. More than 100 company acquisitions were completed during this period, confirming Batibig's position as the natural consolidator of a still highly fragmented market. Throughout these transactions, Batibig has progressively expanded its geographic footprint beyond Île-de-France to cover major French cities, and has diversified its service offering to support clients in their energy efficiency and building emerging repairs initiatives.

This divestment marks the culmination of an exceptional entrepreneurial journey, and opens a new chapter for the Batibig Group, whose development Charles and Justin Bignon and their teams will continue alongside Charterhouse Capital Partners.

For Alexandre Tremblin, Partner and Quentin Brias, Investment Director Siparex ETI: "We are extremely proud of the exceptional journey accomplished by Charles, Justin Bignon and their teams since we invested in the Group in 2020. In six years, Batibig has multiplied its revenue tenfold and established itself as the undisputed leader in its sector in France, thanks to a unique growth model combining operational excellence and the successful integration of more than 100 companies. This success fully illustrates Siparex ETI's strategy: to identify and support high-potential consolidation platforms and turn them into fast-growing market leaders. It is a source of great pride for Siparex to have actively contributed to this extraordinary entrepreneurial adventure." »
